Rick Bergh - M. Div., NT, CT

Rick is now an Anglican priest, Certified Thanatologist (CT), Narrative Therapist (NT), speaker, workshop leader, and best-selling author.

Rick’s first 31 years of experience were as an ordained Lutheran Minister, counselor with extensive work and ministry in palliative care and bereavement. That shaped his approach to dying and loss in a unique way. He has distilled his extensive knowledge in the area of bereavement into information that is readable, relevant, and resonates with his clients and audiences.

You can check out Rick’s work at www.rickbergh.com where he frequently writes on the topics of cancer, terminal illness, death, dying, grief, bereavement and healthy mourning.

Rick serves a parish in Langford, BC, and provides numerous workshops across Canada and the US. His mission is to equip and train leaders and laity in their ministry of grief, loss and end of life.
